Bad Symptoms.

The woman who has periodical headaches, backache, sees imaginary dark spots or specks floating or dancing before her eyes, has gnawing distress or heavy full feeling in stomach, faint spells, dragging-down feeling in lower abdominal or pelvic region, easily startled or excited, irregular or painful periods, with or without pelvic catarrh, is suffering from weaknesses and derangements that should have early attention. Not all of above symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

Neglected or badly treated and such cases often run into maladies which demand the surgeon's knife if they do not result fatally.

No medicine extant has such a long and numerous record of cures in such cases as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. No medicine has such a strong professional indorsement of each of its several ingredients—worth more than any number of ordinary non-professional testimonials. The very best ingredients known to medical science for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments enter into its composition. No alcohol, harmful, or habit-forming drug is to be found in the list of its ingredients printed on each bottle-wrapper and attested under oath.

In any condition of the female system, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can do only good—never harm. Its whole effect is to strengthen, invigorate and regulate the whole female system and especially the pelvic organs. When these are deranged in function or affected by disease, the stomach and other organs of digestion become sympathetically deranged, the nerves are weakened, and a long list of bad, unpleasant symptoms follow. Too much must not be expected of this "Favorite Prescription." It will not perform miracles; will not cure tumors—no medicine will. It will often prevent them, if taken in time, and thus the operating table and the surgeon's knife may be avoided.

Women suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Doctor Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser (1000 pages) is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Address as above.

VIRGINIA IN THE CIVIL WAR.

The General Assembly has provided for the continuance of the office of secretary of Virginia military records for the next two years, and has voted an increase of salary to the secretary to $2,250 per annum. It is also provided that the secretary shall prepare a short history showing the organization of every battalion, regiment, company, or other organization that was in the military, naval or marine service of Virginia, or was contributed by Virginia, the service rendered, and the battles, combats or skirmishes engaged in.

The office of Secretary of Virginia military records was created in 1904, for one year to co-operate with the War Department of the United States in the compilation of a roster of the officers and enlisted man of the Union and Confederate armies. The office was continued by the General Assembly of 1906, and is now further extended.

Major Robert W. Hunter, of Winchester, was appointed by Governor Montague to the office when it was originally created, and has been successively retained. Major Hunter's work has been highly commended both by the federal government and at home. It goes without question that the governor will renominate him to the office as now extended, and permit him to complete the work which he has so well begun, and for which Major Hunter is so eminently qualified.—[Richmond Journal.

GIRL SHOOTS HER RIVAL.

Miss Parzada Shelton, a member of the Shelton family, from which Shelton county, N. C., gets its name, shot Miss Ida Franklin, another well-known young woman of the county, of whom she was jealous, and then fled across the State border line, taking refuge in Tennessee. She was pursued by State officers and taken into custody by Sheriff Green.

One of the bullets from Miss Shelton's pistol struck Miss Franklin in the breast and inflicted a dangerous wound. Miss Shelton has been noted for her daring acts. She is said to have often carried a revolver, and was an expert markswoman. She called at Miss Franklin's home, and was refused admittance, whereupon she drew her revolver and began firing through the door. She filled the door full of shots, one of which struck her rival.

The two young woman had not been on good terms for a long time. Formerly they were close friends, until a love affair came between them. Recently they quit speaking to each other. Miss Shelton heard that her rival had been talking about her. She intended to give Miss Franklin a chance to deny or affirm a certain story, but when the latter shut the door in her face, Miss Shelton said, it was more than she "could stand" and she blazed away.

Do not Crowd the Season.

The first warm days of spring bring with them a desire to get out and enjoy the exhilarating air and sunshine. Children that have been housed up all winter are brought out and you wonder where they all came from. The heavy winter clothing is thrown aside and many shed their flannels. Then a cold wave comes and people say that grip is epidemic. Colds at this season are even more dangerous than in mid-winter, as there is more danger of pneumonia. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, however, and you will have nothing to fear. It always cures, and we have never known a cold to result in pneumonia when it was used. It is pleasant and safe to take. Children like it. For sale by W. F. Creighton and Richard Gibson.

LIE PASSED IN CONGRESS.

The House yesterday took up for consideration the bill appropriating $408,030 for the payment of the claims of the Roman Catholic Church in the Philippines for the occupancy of and damage to church property by American soldiers.

After extended debate, in which those participating included Messrs. Jones (Virginia), Lenahan (Pennsylvania), Clayton (Alabama), Crumpacker (Indiana), Peters (Massachusetts), Harrison (New York), Washburn (Massachusetts), McDermott (Illinois), Mann (Illinois), Hinshaw (Nebraska) and Gaines (Tennessee), the bill was passed without division.

During the debate Mr. Crumpacker said that he was informed that the claim of the Southern Methodist Publishing House for $208,000 was based on a loss of only $50,000. This brought Mr. Gaines (Tennessee) to his feet. Shaking his fist at Mr. Crumpacker, he said:

"I don't know who the gentlemen's informant is, but whoever he may be he is a liar."

This utterance was greeted with groans and laughter.

SATURDAY EVENING, MAR. 7, 1908.

MR. TELLER in the Senate yesterday made a statement, the truth of which cannot be controverted, and which all good citizens who have the welfare of their country at heart should read, learn, mark and inwardly digest. He sounded a warning when he said: "Nobody can sneer me down by saying there is no danger in this country from the usurpation of power by the executive." The army pay bill was under consideration, and an amendment had just been adopted, striking out the provision which authorizes the President to fix the pay of enlisted men in the army within a limit of 40 per cent., as he has been empowered to do with respect to the navy. Senator Teller made a vigorous protest against a statement made recently in the Senate to the effect that the members of the constitutional convention did not have "all the wisdom in the world." He held that while they may not have had "all the wisdom in the world," they were better qualified than any other men have ever been to draw up the constitution of this country, and he declared that if there is any danger ahead of this country it comes from disregard of the constitutional limitations. Continuing he said:

It may not be popular in these days, when there is a disposition to amend the constitution by legislation and judicial construction, to say these things. I wish to say that the contest of the ages has been against the grasp of executive power and just so long as we keep distinct the lines between executive and legislative power the future of this young republic will be safe. We have had appeals from the executive department of this government that the executive power be increased by legislative or judicial construction.

ACCORDING to a dispatch from Rome a member of the political police squad of that city, exclusively intrusted with the surveillance of anarchists, has submitted a novel plan for identifying "Reds" throughout the world. He proposes to tattoo the anarchists on a visible part of the body with a small indelible sign varying in color in the different countries and in shape, according to the dangerous propensities of the individual marked. The sign is to be kept secret and known only to the internal police. It is asserted by this system the police would be enabled to watch the anarchists and thus prevent attacks similar to that made upon Chief Shippy, in Chicago. The plan is said to have been opposed by the authorities of Rome. It might, however, be improved. Instead of placing a secret sign upon such outlaws, it should be made plain and prominent so that they might be known and read of all men.

CHAIRMAN WANGER of the House committee on expenditures in the Postoffice Department proposes to investigate that department on the ground that "some of the expenditures appear to have been made in contravention of law." No doubt he has in mind the payment of the salary and expenses of Assistant Postmaster General Frank Hitchcock while engaged in influencing southern postmasters to work for Taft's presidential boom. The committee on expenditures in the War Department would do well to follow Mr. Wanger's example, and inquire into the payment of Mr. Taft's own salary and expenses out of the Treasury, while he is engaged in traveling and speaking in the advancement of his own boom. Such grafting ought to be exposed and punished, even though it is countenanced by President Roosevelt.

A DISPATCH from Anderson, Ind., tells of a strange man who appeared in that city a few days ago and returned $1.50 he stole from a pair of pantaloons in a residence some time ago. After the stranger had returned the money, he said: "I was a professional burglar when I took the money, but I have been converted and am trying to find those I robbed and make restitution." The above incident might inspire others, who are in possession of ill-gotten gain, to go and do likewise. It has been said that should all the money in the world suddenly take wings and fly to those to whom it rightfully belonged the sight would be interesting.

STILL another scandal, the latest being charges of fraud in the Patent Office with an alleged conspiracy in granting letters patent on an electric lighting invention. But we are told this is a reform administration, yet it has yielded more frauds, scandals and investigations than any other administration.

THE republicans are determined to do nothing about reforming the tariff that protects the trusts, yet there is that high authority, former Governor Douglas, of Massachusetts, for saying that the tariff profits of the steel trust alone amounted to $162,000,000 for the years 1902 and 1903.

The Knickerbocker Trust Company of New York will resume business at noon March 26.

From Washington

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

Washington, D. C., March 7.

Death statistics for 1906, in fifteen States made public today, by the Census Bureau, show that by far the greatest scourge of the country is tuberculosis, with an average of 159 death per 100,000 of population. However, this is a decrease of 10 since 1905. Colorado and California were the States with the highest mortality records from the white plague, with South Dakota and Michigan the two lowest. The death rate for suicide apparently showed a large increase from 1902 to 1905 but 1906 statistics exhibit a marked decrease, being 5,853. Of this number, 4,521 were males. The entire number of violent deaths was 49,552—about 120 9 per 100,000. Railway accidents were responsible for 7,090 lives, and 183 persons were killed in automobile accidents. The entire death rate of the States and cities in which statistics were collected, was 16.1 per 1,000 of population. The annual average rate during the same period for England and Wales was 16; for Scotland 16.9; Ireland, 17 6; Germany, 19.9 and France 19 6. Comparing these figures with previous records, it appears that the world has now reached an era of low mortality. Several foreign countries formerly had as high a death rate as 25 per 1,000. The death rate among negroes was more than sixty per cent. higher than that for whites, in the section examined, being 28.1 per 1,000.

Although the present development of the negotiations between China and Japan over the seizure of the Tatsu, warrants no interference on the part of outside powers, it is not unlikely that the United States would willingly tender its good offices looking toward a settlement of the difficulty in case actual hostilities should be threatened. The State Department is watching the dispute with interest. It is extremely probable that if the incident should lead to war, and Japan should make it the occasion for acquiring Chinese territory the foreign powers would intervene. The question at issue now appears to be one of fact. If it is as Japan represents, she is held here to be justified in her demands upon China. It is not believed that Japan will force the issue without an investigation by an impartial tribunal for the sake of preserving her prestige in the western world. China has already indicated that this would be acceptable.

A bill providing for the establishment of the postal savings bank will be reported from the Senate committee on postoffices and, it is alleged, will be passed by the Senate at this session.

One of the heroes of the United States ship Bennington explosion in 1905, off California, had his brave deeds memorialized in Congress today by the passage of a bill giving him a pension for life, at three fourths the pay of a pharmacist, a rank above that in which he was serving at the time of the explosion.

Attorney General Bonaparte admits that the business depression has come to door and has advertised to sell seven farms which he owns in Maryland.

Inquiry into the charges against the navy, which is being conducted by the Senate naval committee, will be resumed next week.

The minority members of the House committee on banking and currency today gave a left handed compliment to the currency bill introduced by John Sharp Williams, the minority leader. They voted to submit it as the currency bill favored by them, but made the stipulation that they would not have to vote for it in the House. It provides for a bond-secured issue of $500,000,000.

Ten thousand children are killed and two hundred and fifty thousands made degenerates every year by the mills and factories of this country, according to Senator Beveridge, of Indiana. This awful harvest will be reaped every year, he asserts, unless Congress passes an adequate law which will prohibit the products of factories employing children from passing the borders of the state.

The investigating committee appointed yesterday by Speaker Cannon, on orders from the House to sift the charges made by Representative Lilley of Connecticut of improper influencing of legislation on the part of the Electric Boat Company, will begin the taking of testimony on Monday morning. The session will be public. The entire subject of submarine legislation will be gone into and it is confidently predicted that if corruption has been practiced, all the details will be brought to light and those guilty punished. It is understood that Mr. Lilley who brought the charges is well satisfied with the committee although it is known that he would have preferred to have headed the committee himself. At a meeting of the committee today, Mr. Boutell was formally elected chairman. A clerk, stenographer and messenger were appointed. Chairman Boutell is summoning witnesses today. It is understood that Representative Lilley will be the first examined.

August W. Machen, the former postoffice official who was convicted in 1904 of conspiracy in connection with postal frauds, and who was released from the federal prison at Moundsville, arrived at the Union station at noon today, and was greeted by a large number of friends. The release of Machen without the payment of the fine imposed by the court was without the permission of the Department of Justice.

Bank Robbed.

Newton, O., Mar. 7.—Robbers blew up the Mount Victory State Bank at Mount Victory, a village south of here, early today, secured $500 in silver from a small safe and made good their escape on stolen horses. The charge of nitro-glycerine did not affect the vault, which contained a large sum. The bank is near a railroad, and the explosion was timed just as a freight train was passing and the robbery was not known until today.

Sixtieth Congress.

Washington, Mar. 6.

SENATE.

The Senate was not in session today having adjourned yesterday till Monday.

HOUSE.

Memorial services were held in the House today in honor of the late Representative Campbell Slemp (rep. Va.) Previous to these services, the House passed a number of bills on the private calendar.

Mr. Ransdell introduced a bill creating an executive department of the government to be known as the department of transportation and public works. The deportment is to construct and maintain all public buildings and improvements authorized by Congress.

SUICIDE OF EX-CONFEDERATE.

Samuel Fugh, a well-known citizen of Dayton, who disappeared from his home Tuesday, was discovered dead on a cliff near Bridgewater Shenandoah county, yesterday afternoon, and from all indications he had been dead two days.

Tuesday afternoon he had a slight domestic quarrel and Mr. Fugh left home, saying he would never return alive. Nothing was thought of the matter, but when he failed to return that night his relatives and friends began searching for him.

When they found his body it was lying in a bed of leaves and by his side was an empty ounce bottle marked laudanum. Besides this the dead man had opened an artery in his arms in seven different places.

A rope was also around his neck, but if he intended jumping over the cliff, the drug overpowered, him before he put his purpose into effect. He was an ex-Confederate soldier, sixty-three years of age, and is survived by a wife and nine children, seven daughters and two sons.

Germany's New Ships.

Berlin, Mar. 7.—The Nassau, the first of the monster battleships upon which the Kaiser depends to make the fatherland a first class power afloat, was launched today at Wilhelmshaven and christened by the Grand Duchess of Baden. The Kaiser, Prince Henry of Prussia and a brilliant gathering of noblemen and officials watched the launching. The Nassau displaces 17,960 tons, will attain 19 knots speed and is to carry a crew of 866. The internal fittings and armament are to be completed early in 1909. The Nassau's twin ship, the Sachsen, will be launched shortly at Bremen, and work is being hurried at Stettin and Kiel respectively on the Wurtemburg and Baden, of 18,700 tons displacement. It is expected two more ships of 20,000 tons will be laid down this year.

New York, Mar. 7.—The State convention which elected four delegates-at-large and four alternates to the convention at Chicago will meet in Carnegie Hall, New York city, on April 11. The call was issued at a meeting of the republican State committee today, and incidentally that body adopted strong resolutions calling for the nomination of Charles E. Hughes as the presidential candidate. The convention will also select a new State committee. Today's session of the committee was absolutely harmonious, not a dissenting voice being heard on any proposition and the resolution endorsing Hughes being adopted with a reasonable amount of enthusiasm.

Bellenot vs city of Richmond. Fully argued and submitted.

Norfolk Railway and Light Company vs. Higgins, by, e'c. Argued and submitted.

The Legislature.

SENATE.

William M. Turpin was yesterday elected by the general assembly as first civil justice of Richmond city, which office was created by the present legislature. There was no other name before the legislature.

J. Lawrence Campbell, of Bedford City, received the vote of every legislator present in both houses, as judge of the recentlycreated Thirtieth judicial circuit, embracing Bedford and Franklin.

The Senate by a unanimous vote of 36 to 0, yesterday passed the Baker health bill, relating to the State board of health. As it has already met with the approval of the House, the bill now becomes law.

An important feature of the bill is the crusade which it initiates against tuberculosis, by requiring a study of climatic conditions throughout the State with a view to the best locations for sanitaria. It is provided also that the health department shall institute researches into the best methods of combating the various dread, endemic and epidemic diseases; such methods, for example as that recently announced in the serum treatment of cerebro-spinal meningitis. The author and friends of the bill say they look forward confidently to the time when Virginia will be well to the front in investigations and results of this character.

The general appropriation bill was passed in the Senate. An amendment to appropriate an additional $100,000 for the support of the free schools was rejected, the appropriation remaining at $500,000. An amendment appropriating $250,000 for the purchase of books for pupils in the schools by the State was also lost.

The Page compulsory education bill, which went through the House on Tuesday, was passed by the Senate at last night's session. Though optional with the cities and counties, it is believed by many experienced educators to be of great value as putting a weapon into the hands of local authorities to punish neglect of school duties through the indifference of children and of parents.

Fredericksburg, after a hard fight, won out in the House as the site for the proposed new State normal school. The vote was taken on the amendment of C. O'Connor Goolrick, of that city, who proposed to substitute Fredericksburg for Harrisonburg in the bill as passed in the Senate. After a motion to dismiss the bill had been defeated, the measure was passed, carrying the amendment that Fredericksburg should be the site of the proposed school. Later the Senate refused to concur in the House amendment, and the question of site remains unsettled. The bill will go to a conference committee. During the debate Mr. Caton declared himself in favor of Alexandria while Mr. Janney favored Manassas as the site for the proposed school.

The Senate bill vesting title in the site of the Jamestown Exposition with the federal government, in the event the government decides to purchase the property for the purpose of a military and naval training station, passed the House last night. Under the terms of the bill the property is not to be subject to taxation.

The bill regulating the Bureau of Insurance was defeated.

The bill to authorize the United States government to acquire title to and jurisdiction over certain lands situated at Sewell's Point, in Tanner's Creek District of Norfolk county, including the site of the Jamestown Exposition was passed.

The Senate also passed the bill to amend section 2 of chapter 6, and section 28 of chapter 8 of an act concerning the bureau of insurance, also house bill to establish the sufficiency of certain evidence as proof of the existence of a public road.

The bill in relation to State depositories was passed after an argument of some length, and with many amendments.

The Senate passed the House bills in relation to the assessment of lands, and in relation to State depositories.

Both houses killed a number of bills, among them being the bill providing that judges of local option election should be appointed, one upon the recommendation of the first five signers on the petition, one upon the recommendation of the executive committee of the "opposing interest" (whatever that might be) and the third by the electoral board, without the necessity of any recommendation.

The Senate also killed the proposition, in the nature of an amendment, exempting national banks from taxation on a portion of their assets, generally known as the offset bank tax bill.

CONGRESSIONAL.

In the Senate yesterday the army pay bill, increasing the pay of officers from 5 to 25 per cent. and of enlisted men 40 per cent., was passed.

Going into executive session at 2:30 p. m., the Senate ratified the treaty with Switzerland, providing for the settlement of certain classes of disputes by arbitration, and received a favorable report from the committee on foreign relations upon the conventions adopted by the last peace conference at The Hague.

The Senate adjourned until Monday next.

In the House, bill to pay the Bishop of Manila a Catholic Church claim of $403,000 for damage done by troops in the Philippines, was passed.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is Both Agreeble and Effective.

S. Pelham, a merchant of Kirksville, Iowa, says: "For more than twenty years Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been my leading remedy for all throat troubles. It is especially successful in cases of croup. Children like it and my customers who have used it will not take any other." For sale by W. F. Creighton and Richard Gibson.

The Market.

Georgetown, D. C., Mar. 7.—Wheat 90-97,

Today's Telegraphic News.

China and Japan.

London, Mar. 7.—The question of war or peace between China and Japan probably hinges on the outcome of the cabinet meeting in progress in Tokio now. Should the minister decide on an ultimatum in the Tatsu Maru matter there would still be the chance that China might yield, but British government officials incline rather to the opinion that the Pekin government, believing hostilities inevitable sooner or later, will deem this as good a time as any for a trial at arms. It is realized that China can not fail to appreciate how far she is outclassed by Japan as a military power. She undoubtedly counts, however, on the Mikado's present financial embarrassment to guarantee her against a prolonged campaign and probably regards the chances at least even that Tokio, realizing the acuteness of the Japanese money stringency, does not really mean to fight at all but is simply trying to frighten the celestial empire into a surrender which will strengthen the Tokio cabinet and correspondingly weaken the prestige of the Chinese.

The elder statesmen's policy of delay, on the ground that the world's sympathy is with China and Japan, is in no condition for war, is not considered particularly reassuring.

In view of the fact that the Tatsu matter is regarded as not more than a pretext for Japanese pressure upon the Chinese, not much attention is paid to diplomatic assurances that the dispute is too trivial to warrant hostilities.

JAPAN'S ULTIMATUM

Tokio, Mar. 7.—The Mikado has sent a demand to Pekin for immediate surrender of the Tatsu Maru, the Japanese steamship recently seized by China for smuggling arms to Chinese rebels, for an ample apology and for full indemnity. It is made clear that neither delay nor further counter propositions will be tolerated. If the demand is refused China is warned that Japan will act at once. The message amounts to an ultimatum. It followed a meeting of the Cabinet and may, therefore, be accepted as deliberate and the result of consideration by the entire government. Unless China yields there seems no alternative but war.

Lord Tweedmouth's Predicament.

London, Mar. 7.—First Lord of the Admiralty Lord Tweedmouth will certainly have an exceedingly bad quarter of an hour Monday when he undertakes to explain his recent correspondence with the Kaiser concerning naval estimates to the House of Lords.

There is every disposition to call him strictly to account for answering the communication without laying it before the cabinet, and his announcement that the private nature of the Kaiser's note renders it impossible for him to publish its contents, will make matters all the worse.

The British press predicts that his lordship will ultimately undoubtedly be forced to give the correspondence to the public, however.

Berlin messages indicate that the German ruler is exceedingly angry that Tweedmouth should have permitted a purely private letter to have become the subject of public scandal.

London newspapers are especially severe in their criticisms of the Times, and that journal is charged with resorting to yellow journalism in publishing the correspondence which has disturbed the peace of the world.

Sentences Confirmed.

Berlin, Mar. 7.—The Kaiser has confirmed the sentences pronounced by a military court of honor against his distant kinsman and former favorite, Count Wilhelm von Hohenau, following the latter's trial on accusations growing out of Editor Harden's attacks on the "knights of the round table." Under the court's order the count is dismissed from the army, in which he was lieutenant general, and loses all the decorations ever conferred on him. Hohenau was a close friend of General von Moltke and was one of those against whom charges of immorality were made in Die Zukunft. Though a civil court exonerated Moltke and sentenced Harden to pay a fine and serve a term in prison for libel, Hohenau was brought to trial before his fellow-officers and found guilty.

Postoffice Robberies.

Camden, N. J., Mar. 7.—Two bold postoffice robberies in this section last night by yeggmen led to the arrest of one of the alleged participants. Two others made their escape. Practically all the loot was recovered. The thieves then set fire to the buildings, but the flames were discovered and put out with little difficulty. An hour later the same men blew the safe at the Bridgeport postoffice. The explosion brought out a crowd, and the robbers hurried away in a carriage they had in waiting. The pursuit was so hot, however, that near Woodbury two of the men abandoned the rig, taking to the woods. The three were finally captured, but not however, until two had been shot and seriously wounded by their pursuers.

General Stoessel.

St. Petersburg, March. 7.—The Czar and several of his advisors are reviewing the evidence against General Stoessel with a view to a pardon or commitment of the sentence imposed upon him for surrendering Port Arthur. His majesty is said to favor an absolute pardon, but most of the army leaders, angered by Stoessel's attacks on the war office, think a commutation of the death sentence to ten years' imprisonment quite enough. Though the general was sentenced to die yesterday, in accordance with the court martial's recent verdict against him, practically no restraint is placed on his movements.

New York Stock Market.

New York, March 7.—The market during the first hour was more active and broader than on any preceding day during the week. The movement of prices from the start was upward, advances being made of from one to over two points in a number of issues, while nearly everything traded in showed some amount of gain. The street and room generally considered the new developments of the morning as of a bullish character.

Denial From Mme. Gould.

Paris, Mar. 7.—Mme. Anna Gould authorized an absolute denial this afternoon of the Cri de Paris story of her alleged marriage to Prince de Sagan in Germany or elsewhere. Count Boni, her former husband, has consented to his children's temporary absence from France and the mother says she will shortly take them to the United States for a three month's visit.

Funeral of the Victims.

Cleveland, O. Mar. 7.—At 9 a. m. today solemn high mass was celebrated in the Catholic churches of Collinwood for children of these congregations who lost their lives in the school fire.

At St. Mary's church the caskets of sixteen children lay in a row before the altar rail. The first four rows of pews had been removed to make room for the dead.

Twelve children of Collinwood Presbyterian Sunday school were also buried today. For each a seperate funeral was held. Eleven from this school were buried yesterday. Forty from this school lost their lives.

From nearly thirty other homes in the north part of Collinwood other funerals were held this afternoon and many more are set for Sunday. It will be late Monday before all the dead are buried.

One hundred and sixty-seven is the official count of the victims of the Collinwood fire. Of these, twenty-two remain unidentified and five are estimated to have been burned to ashes. The remaining 140 were identified by parents and removed to their homes.

The last survivor of the fire victims taken to Glenville Hospital, Glennbarber, aged 8, died today. He jumped from a second story window to escape the flames.

Mayor Westropp, of Collinwood, received the following today.

Brighton, Mich., Mar. 6, 1908.

Mayor H. S. Westropp:

Dear Sir: I am a ten year old pupil in the third grade in a Brighton, Mich., school. Please find enclosed four cents that I have had in my toy bank which you can keep until you get some more from other pupils. Try and buy a monument in memory of the Lake View school children that lost their lives by fire Wednesday morning. I hope God will forever keep them in Heaven. Good bye. FRANCIS MCQUADE

Arrival of Duchess of Marlborough.

New York, Mar. 7.—Counsello, Duchess of Marlborough, a daughter of William K Vanderbilt, was a passenger on the Cunarder liner which arrived here today.

The main object of her flying visit to New York at this time is said to be to see her mother, Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont. It is expected that while she is here, however, she will make a further study of sociological conditions in New York's prisons. When she was here last autumn she started a movement among society women to investigate prison conditions with a view of working improvements. In the last few weeks it has been reported that the young duchess has become greatly interested in socialism.

Arsenic Caused Baker's Death.

Boston, March 7.—In f recasting the testimony he will give at the inquest to be held in Hackensack, N. J., Dr. Boos, who made an exhaustive examination of Walter F. Baker's body shortly after the young clubman's mysterious death, today insinuated that Baker was not a suicide nor a victim of alcoholism." I found about 20 grains of arsenic scattered through the internal organs of the dead man," said the physician. "Enough poison had been administered to make sure of the death. It was sufficient to kill ten men. This arsenic could not have come from the embalming fluid used by analysis by the undertaker. I found that the arsenic had been swallowed in liquid form, administered in some beverage."

Alleged Immorality.

Chicago, March 7.—A report of the conduct of high school fraternity chapter houses made by detectives of the police department to the board of education alleges gross immorality practised by certain fraternity men. Although the report has not been made public, it has been referred to the President Scheider, of the board of education, in his fight against the fraternity and some of the charges made known. Drinking and card playing are common practices at the fraternity houses, according to the report. It is also charged in six instances that women were harbored in the houses. The houses are for the most part cottages rented and fitted up by the boys near the school buildings.

Little Girl Burned To Death.

Bruceton Mills, Pa., Mar. 7.—Little Jennie Verino, 3-years-old, was burned to death and several others had narrow escapes in a fire which destroyed a double house occupied by several Hungarians here early today. A bucket brigade was formed and prevented the flames from spreading. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Peoria, Ill., Mar. 7.—Fire early today destroyed the local houses of the International Harvester Company, the Hart Grain Weigher Company, the Minneapolis Thresher Company and other implements plants. The loss is estimated at $250,000. The fire is still burning.

Kansas City, Mar. 7.—Burlington train No. 4, which left Kansas City for Chicago at 7:30 o'clock this morning, is ditched near Kearney, Mo., in Clay county. All the physicians in Kearney have been sent to the scene. The train is composed of chair cars and coaches. No one was killed, but from 15 to 18 were injured. Three cars and the engine turned over on a fifteen foot bank near a bridge when a rail broke.

Twelve Persons Killed.

MR. LILLEY'S CHARGES.

As stated yesterday, the House decided on that day to probe Representative Lilley's charges with reference to submarine boat legislation, having adopted a resolution brought in by the committee on rules and appointed a committee of five members to investigate the charges.

The report is accompanied by a stenographic report of the proceedings before the committee on rules on February 25, on which day Mr. Lilley appeared before that committee and read in part the following statement:

"I propose to show that for several years prior to the Lessler investigation the Holland Company and its successor, the Electric Boat Company, maintained in Washington an organized lobby for the purpose of influencing legislative appropriations in favor of the Holland boat, and that it had under annual retainer C. E. Creecy, Gen. Eppa Hunton, ex-United States Senator M. C. Butler, U. S. McNeil, Dr. W. R. Kerr and others.

"That for several years Mr. Elihu B. Frost, vice president of the said company, has been a continuous visitor at Washington during congressional sessions, and that he has spent large sums of money in furnishing entertainment to members of Congress, and that his expenditures along this line amount to thousands of dollars.

EVELYN THAW IN BERMUDA.

A decided sensation was created in New York last night by the receipt of information from Bermuda that Mrs. Harry Thaw, who was supposed to be in New York, and a regular visitor to her husband in the Matteawan Asylum for Insane Criminals, arrived in Bermuda on the same ship that took to that port Mark Twain and his friend, Henry H. Rogers.

Mrs. Thaw sailed under the name of Mrs. Fowler and was accompanied by a woman companion registered on the ship as Miss Neilson. In Bermuda her identity became known and a cable was received in New York last night confirming the fact of her arrival safely on the steamship Bermudian.

The news is taken as complete confirmation of the rumor that the two leading figures in the Thaw murder trial have separated.

Four Men Asphyxiated.

Baltimore, Md., Mar. 7.—Four laborers are dead and ten are in an unconscious condition at the City Hospital from the effects of inhaling coal gas shortly before noon today while at work in the Pennsylvania Railroad Union tunnel near the north avenue entrance.

James Littrell died at his home in Fredericksburg yesterday, aged 76 years.

Uncle Remus's Magazine for March, which has been received from the publishers in Atlanta, is one of literary excellence and wide interest. Joel Chandler Harris editorially discusses "The blue-jay in Vaudeville" and as Mr. Billy Sanders comments on "Fathers and Sons." "Abiselfas, Izzards and Ampersands" tells of some of the old-field school teachers of Georgia, and the third instalment of "What I Know of the Ku Klux Klan," appears. A feature of interest is "The passing of the old New Orleans" illustrated by pen-and-ink sketches. The fiction and verse are above the average, and "A Glance in Passing," "The Open House" review of books etc. complete an unusually good issue.

We have received the March number of the Southern Planter from its Richmond publishers. Among the interesting table of contents are articles on: How lime acts most efficient, a new rye, the need of cover crops in the South, cost of producing corn, the Piedmont Fruit Exchange, tick eradication in Virginia, &c.

THE LATE CAPT. THOS. PERRY.

The following resolutions of respect to Past Commander Thos. Perry, R. E. Lee Camp No. 2, Confederate Veterans, of Alexandria, written by Col. Arthur Herbert, were adopted at a recent meeting of that camp:

In memoriam of Capt. Thomas Perry who departed this life December 20, 1907, in the Christian faith and in good hope of a blessed immortality. We all know his life as a citizen as he went in and out among us meeting his obligations as such and that in his private life among his friends and the closer ties of his home life it was all that could be expected from a man actuated always by a strong sense of duty.

But it is to his life as a soldier that we must turn, for its dominating characteristics. He was among the first organizers of the old Alexandria Riflemen, never missing a meeting or drill, following that organization with equal devotion and enthusiasm through all its changes, through many peaceful and military pageants to the John Brown incident, and then through the trying years from '61 to '65 to the close at Appomattox.

His character as a man and soldier impressed all with whom he came in contact. Intensely loyal to the cause of the South, modest and unassuming he performed all calls of duty cheerfully; whether that duty were the ordinary routine of camp, the danger of outpost, the advance of a shirmish line, or the maddening charge of a line of battle he was found where duty called. Captured at a fight with Merritt's cavalry at Manassas Gap he suffered much from the hardship of the prison life and when discharged, though suffering greatly from ill health, he at once returned to his regimental camp and comrades, the only home he knew in those days of danger and hardship. Safe now from earth's sorrows and changes he has entered his rest and peace eternal.

FIGHTS.

A fight occurred in a saloon in the western part of the city yesterday afternoon between three white men. Officers Beach, Henderson and Nicholson later arrested the combatants, one of whom left collateral for his appearance this morning. He could not be found when the case was called in the Police Court and forfeited his deposit. The other two men were dismissed by Justice Caton, it having been shown that the missing man was the aggressor.

A fight between several colored women and a colored man took place about 6 o'clock yesterday evening on Franklin street, between Fairfax and Royal, during which unconventional language was used and bricks, rocks and plates were used as missiles. The trouble, it is said, started at the intersection of Franklin and Royal streets, between two colored girls. Older colored people became involved, and the fight did not end until the combatants reached Fairfax street. The fight attracted considerable attention.

POLICE COURT.

[Justice H. B. Caton presiding.]

The following cases were disposed of this morning:

J. L. and B. W. Trauner, charged with improper conduct, forfeited their collateral by failing to appear.

A white man, charged with disorderly conduct and fighting, forfeited his collateral by failing to appear.

Two other white men charged with a similar offense, were dismissed.

Robert Preston, colored, charged with stealing chickens, was sent to jail for six months.

Samuel Brooks, colored, charged with selling liquor without a license and on Sunday, was fined $50.

Mrs. Amelia Lucas died in Washington Thursday. Her remains will be brought to this city for interment.

Mr. John Riha, of Vining, Ia., says: "I have been selling DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills for about a year and they give better satisfaction than any pill I ever sold. I have used them myself with fine results." Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co.

Wash Barnes was also arrested for selling liquor without a license in Loudoun county. He was brought before Commissioner Garnett this morning and released upon giving $300 security for his appearance before the next grand jury of the U. S. Court.

GAVE BOND.

Harry Wimsatt, who was recently indicted by the grand jury in Washington for alleged conspiracy to defraud in connection with the car ticket swindle, yesterday surrendered himself to the authorities of that city and with his attorney appeared at the courthouse and gave bond for $3,000. Wimsatt was in New York at the time the indictments were returned, but a bench warrant was issued for his arrest. As has been stated, he is the former husband of Marie Wilson, who made fame and fortune as a Floradora sextet girl. Wimsatt was indicted jointly with Andrew L. Lucas and Charles F. Tabler, of Washington.

CORPORATION COURT.

[Judge L. C. Barley presiding.]

As heretofore stated a special grand jury has been summoned to appear on Monday next in the Corporation Court when the following cases will come before them viz: Frank Parker, Walter Smith, Fred Hicks and Edward Drowns, grand larceny; Walter Smith, Edward Drowns and Fred Hicks, breaking and entering a slaughter house; C. H. Chauncey, misdemeanor; Edw. Drowns, Fred Hicks and Wilbert Cook, felonious and malicious shooting; Geo. Payne and John Lewis, breaking and entering a storehouse.

MURDER IN FAIRFAX.

On the road near Fairfax yesterday evening Ed. Poland killed Ron Maddox while the latter was attempting to enforce the payment of some money which Maddox claimed was due him. Poland struck Maddox with an iron coupling pin and he never gained consciousness. He died in two hours. Poland was arrested and bailed in the sum of $1,000 for his appearance before the next grand jury. He claims that he was attacked and that he acted in self defense. Maddox it appears had an assault case pending against him and was to have been tried next week.

SENT TO JAIL.

Officers Nicholson and Gill yesterday arrested a colored man named Robert Preston on suspicion of stealing chickens. Preston went on north Lee street with two fine chickens which he sold to the proprietress of a house for 35 cents apiece. He was positively identified by the woman and an inmate of the house, but he flatly denied having had any dealings with the woman. He did not tell how he came in possession of the chickens, and was sent to jail for six months.

THE OHIO SCHOOL DISASTER.

To the Editor of the Alexandria Gazette:

In reading your editorial comment of the awful disaster at Collinwood, Ohio, in Thursday's paper, I note you call attention to "another horror that occurred at Boyertown, Pa., in a building used for the exhibition of moving pictures." You have evidently been misinformed as to the accident at Boyertown, as the fire there occurred in the Opera House and at the time a lecture was being delivered, illustrated with stereopticon views. The press dispatches say this fire was caused by some one on the stage overturning a kerosene lamp. Your editorial does the moving picture business an injustice, and in view of this fact we wish to call the attention of the public to the absolute safety of the place I have the pleasure of being manager. We will be pleased at any time to show you or any one th ough the building to prove the above assertion.

Respectfully yours,
THOMAS L. RISHELL
Manager Alexandria Amusement Co.

[The disaster at Boyertown occurred on the night of the 13th of January. It was stated in the first dispatches that a moving picture show was being given in the Opera House at that place which at the time was being used for the exhibition of moving pictures under the auspices of a church. The dispatches published in the Gazette of the 15th of January again stated that moving pictures were being shown when, suddenly the sharp hissing of air from an ill-fitting valve of the gas tank of the machine sounded. One of the little girls behind the curtain innocently lifted the muslin screen from the bottom to peer at the audience. As she did so the wooden bar and weight at the bottom brushed against two lamps set in a trough of tin, the reservoir for the oil. Toppling over, the lamps were disjointed, and blazing oil spread about the stage and the orchestra pit. There was no intention of doing injury to any one on the part of the writer of the editorial. He only referred to what were regarded to be facts at the time.]

A Lost Bank Note.

A friend of mine, writes a Scottish correspondent, recently saw a piece of paper lying on the street. He picked it up. It was a one pound note. Some men might have pocketed it, with a smile of satisfaction. My friend, however, honestly handed it over to the police. A short time afterward he discovered that he himself had lost a pound. He thought over the matter and remembered that before finding the note he had been standing on the edge of the pavement for some time. It slowly dawned upon him that the pound he had found was his own and that he had drawn it from his pocket unconsciously. He went back promptly to the police station and explained the circumstance. The officer in charge only shook his head and smiled incredulously. "Very clever," he said, "but—eh—it will scarcely do." If my friend cared to call back at the end of six months, he was informed, he would get the pound if in the interval it had not been claimed. During this time of waiting he is inclined to meditate as to whether honesty is always the best policy.—London P. T. O.

In Case of Accident.

Don't bluster. Be tactful. If there are dangerous germs present, ask them to withdraw. If they demur, ask them where they were brought up with gentle irony.

Be careful to render first aid to the injured. A great deal of unnecessary suffering has been caused by persons hastily rendering third or even fourth aid where first aid was indicated.

In case of drowning select a best method of resuscitation. There are 4,639 best methods in all. Have them about you in the form of loose newspaper clippings and run them over briefly before acting.

Keep cool. Stop every little while and take your temperature.

If the coroner arrives while you are at work, immediately desist. It is discourteous to save life in his presence.

Take accurate notes of the street and number. Reviving patients almost always ask where they are.

If possible, induce death to supervene rather than to take place merely or even to ensue. It gives the family a sense of dignity.—Puck.

The Frank Critic.

"When Sir John Millais was engaged in painting his 'Chill October' among the rushes on the banks of the Tay, near Perth," said an English artist, "a railway porter from the station at Kinfauns used to carry the canvas back and forth for him.

"The porter was a quaint chap. His services were called for many days in requisition. He became quite friendly with Sir John and seemed to take a hearty interest in the progress of the painting.

"Well, 'Chill October' was eventually finished and sold a little while afterward for a thousand pounds. This fact somehow reached the porter's ears. He met Sir John's brother-in-law at Kinfauns one day and said excitedly:

"'Mon, is't true that Sir John's sold t'picture and got a thoosand poond for't?"

"'Yes, certainly,' was the reply.

"'A thoosand poond!' repeated the porter. 'Why, mon, I wadna gi'en half a croon for't.'"

Rotundity of Earth.

We are assured by competent authority that Thales of Miletus taught that the earth was of a globular form so early as 640 B. C. Pythagoras demonstrated from the varying altitudes of the stars that the earth must be round. Aristarchus of Samos maintained that the earth turned on its own axis and revolved about the sun, which doctrine was held by his contemporaries as so absurd and revolting that the philosopher nearly lost his life B. C. 280. The wisdom of the ancients was, of course, lost sight of in the darkness of the "middle ages," and it took Galilei and Copernicus to restore the old knowledge to the world.—New York American.

Murder In Germany.

Germany distinguishes between two kinds of murder—one, premeditated and intentional, is punishable by death; the second, intentional homicide without deliberation, is punishable by penal servitude for from five to fifteen years. Dueling in Germany is a misdemeano of a special kind. Who kills his opponent in a duel is not charged with murder or manslaughter, but with dueling, the punishment for which is detention in a fortress for fifteen years. —London Chronicle.

Ruffled His Feathers.

Artist (showing friend his masterpiece)—Now, my boy, that is a picture, if you like—real and natural. What do you think of it? Friend—Capital! Capital! So lifelike! Such light and shade! I don't think I ever saw a better picture of a battlefield. Artist—Great Paul Rubens! That's not a battlefield—that's a basket of fruit!—London Standard.

Reduction.

The old nag was jogging up the hill with the elopers.

"Yes," said the old nag, "it is rather tough pulling them up to the parsonage, but it will be easier coming back."

"How so?" queried the friendly goose at the roadside.

"Why, can't you see that after leaving the parsonage two will be made one?"—Chicago News.

The Editor Regrets.

Office Boy—The editor says he's much obliged to you for allowing him to see your drawings, but much regrets he is unable to use them. Fair Artist (eagerly)—Did he say that? Office Boy (truthfully)—Well, not exactly. He just said: "Take 'em away, Pimple. They make me sick."—London Tatler.

Rheumatic Pains Relieved.

B. F. Crocker, Esq., now 84 years of age, and for twenty years Justice of the Peace at Martinsburg, Iowa, says: "I am terribly afflicted with sciatic rheumatism in my left arm and right hip. I have used three bottles of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and it did me lots of good." For sale by W. F. Creighton and Richard Gibson.

DeWitt's Little Early Risers, small, safe, sure little liver pills. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co.

Paid For the Supplies.

A story said to be characteristic is told of a certain judge. It seems that when he convened court at one of the towns on his circuit it was found that no pens, ink or paper had been provided, and upon inquiry it developed that no county funds were available for this purpose. The judge expressed himself somewhat forcefully, then drew some money from his own pocket. He was about to hand this to the clerk when a visiting lawyer, a high priced imported article, brought on to defend a case of some importance, spoke up in an aside plainly audible over the room.

"Well," he remarked, with infinite contempt, "I've seen some pretty bad courts, but this—well, this is the limit!"

The old judge flushed darkly.

"You are fined $25 for contempt, sir! Hand the money to the clerk!" he said, and when the pompous visitor had humbly complied he continued.

"Now, Mr. Clerk, go out and get what pens, ink and paper the court may require, and if there is anything left over you can give the gentleman his change."—Harper's Weekly.

A Genius at Excuses.

"While I was stage managing a piece some time ago," said a theatrical magnate, "one of my show girls showed an independence of spirit which was superb. She was always late for rehearsal. Her excuses were great. All her friends and relations had a series of maladies which were remarkable in their number and diversity. She nursed them all until they naturally gave up the ghost. About an hour was enough to bury most of them. Then she caught on to mechanical devices. Street cars were invariably late—just as late as she was, in fact. Then in turn came certain inconveniences in hotels. The elevator was continually sticking until finally came the denouement. It was in Philadelphia. The siren did not appear until nearly two hours after the proper time. I looked at her and waited. The excuse came glibly.

"'Oh,' she panted, 'I'm so sorry, but they are repairing the stairs at the hotel, and I could not get down until they brought a ladder!'

"I recognized genius in that girl."—Chicago Record-Herald.

How the Cook Did It.

He had a number of guests to dinner, and he was doing the carving. He had deftly taken two slices off the joint, and he was turning off a third when the blade struck a skewer, made a sliding motion and came out at the top, with the result that the proposed slice looked like a dead leaf curled up by the sun's rays.

He could not say intense things in the presence of his guests, so he froze his wife with a glance, dug the skewer out viciously, made a grim joke concerning the indigestibility of roasted wood and ordered little Willie, who had made several attempts to speak, to keep silent or leave the table.

His evident temper led to an embarrassing silence, and Willie saw an opening that he could not resist.

"Cook burned her nose orful!" he announced.

"Too bad," said the mother, glad of any excuse for conversation. "How did she do it?"

"Why," answered Willie very apropos, "trying to pull them skewers out with her teeth!"—London Scraps.

An Indignant Artist.

The sensational offers said to have been made by theatrical managers to the principal actor in a recent murder trial must have made professional stars feel very much as did the painter Haydon in 1846 when two of his finest pictures were being shown at the Egyptian hall, and the public thronged into another room where General Tom Thumb was on view. "They rush by thousands to see Tom Thumb," wrote the disappointed painter in his diary. "Their eyes are open, but their sense is shut. It is an insanity, a rabies, a madness, a furor, a dream!" Another entry later on runs: "Tom Thumb had 12,000 people last week, R. R. Haydon 133½ (the half a little girl). Exquisite taste of the English people!" We do not seem to have progressed much since then.—London Chronicle.

Diameter of a Fine Wire.

Should you ever find it necessary to obtain the diameter of a fine wire, it may be done in this manner: Wind it carefully around a piece of pencil in one layer for an inch or so, that each turn is touching the previous one. Then measure exactly an inch along the wire and count the number of turns in the inch. You then have the information. Thus, if there are eighteen turns the wire is one-eighteenth of an inch in diameter.

A Good Man.

"Your dead husband wor a good mon," declared the sympathetic Mrs. Casey to the bereaved widow.

"He wor!" exclaimed Mrs. Murphy, dashing the tears from her eyes. "No two polacemin cud handle him!"—Judge.

Details Desired.

"Miss Vanessa, if a young man should ask you to marry him what would your answer be?"

"I can't say. A hypothetical question should go more fully into details."—Washington Herald.

Wonderful Printing.

Meeting Old Neptune.

An inmate of Sailors' Snug Harbor in speaking of the ceremony connected with "crossing the line," when Father Neptune presides over the initiation of the men who have never crossed the equator, said:

"I got my introduction to old Neptune while I was in the merchant service. I got my lather and shave and ducking thirty years ago and helped initiate many seafaring men and landsmen since then. With hot tar handy, Neptune's crew often took liberties which would not be allowed on board a man-of-war. The skipper used to look on from aloft, but he was blind as a bat to things that he did not wish to see, and the men knew enough to make no complaint. I know that I was mad clear through at what I got, but I contented myself with taking it out of the next man."

Not Up to Date.

The evidence had shown that the brick which a careless workman had dropped from a scaffolding twenty feet above the surface of the ground had fallen on a man's shoulder and broken a bone, but the jury decided that the victim had no cause of action. The falling of the brick had no necessary connection with the accident.

"Gentlemen," said the judge, "I never heard of such a verdict. You utterly ignore the existence of the law of gravitation."

"That law, your honor," answered the foreman of the jury, "is so old that we decided not to consider it. It's obsolete."—Chicago Tribune.

The Brightness He Saw.

A man who died recently in the north of England and had been living a dishonest life under the cloak of religion, wishing to pose as a good man to the last, said to those around him:

"All is bright before me!"

"Aye," said one of those present, whom he had swindled out of a sum of money, "an' in abeat ten minits theau'll be near enoof to see th' blaze!"—Manchester Guardian.

Poor Critter!

"I hear that your husband is critically ill, Mrs. Tiff?" said Mr. Gummey.

"Yes, he is. He criticises the doctor, and he criticises the nurse, and he criticises me. Oh, he's critically ill, all right."—Judge.

Poor Soldier.

Bill—It is said that Alexander the Great when on a campaign ate the rations of a common soldier. Jill—And did the poor soldier get nothing?—Yonkers Statesman.

Encouragement.

Jack—I am afraid that if I ask you to be my wife you will treat my proposal as a joke. Molly—But all jokes are not rejected, Jack.

Quick climatic changes try strong constitutions and cause, among other evils, nasal catarrh, a troublesome and offensive disease. Sneezing and snuffling, coughing and difficult breathing, and the drip, drip of the foul discharge into the throat—all are ended by Ely's Cream Balm.
